Art Unit: 3744

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 10, 11, 13-15, 17-22, and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Miller et al. Miller et al discloses the placement of the air conditioning unit 20 along a right side wall of the cab. However, Miller et al does not disclose the unit being mounted to a front portion of the right side wall. The location of the air conditioning unit with respect to the cab is considered to be a matter of obvious design choice to one of ordinary skill in the art. No criticality or unexpected results are seen or have been disclosed for the recited location of the unit being at the front portion of the right side wall. Furthermore, one of ordinary skill in the art would be able to use the disclosure of Miller et al to mount the air conditioning unit anywhere along the right side wall of the cab without undue experimentation.

3. Claims 1-7 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Miller et al in view of Okada et al. Miller et al discloses the claimed invention except for the air conditioning unit being used to cool the air. Okada et al teaches that it is well known to provide vehicle cab compartments with air conditioning units that cool the air. Thus, it would be obvious to provide the air conditioning unit of Miller et al with cooling capabilities, in view of Okada et al, for the purpose of cooling the cab whenever needed or desired.

Art Unit: 3744

4. Claims 8, 16, 23-25, and 27 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. Claims 28-33 are allowed.

6. Applicant's arguments filed August 12, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The recitation of the air conditioning unit being located at a front portion of the right side wall is not considered to be patentable. All air conditioning units that are located in vehicle passenger compartments are located in the front of the vehicle for easy access by the operator. Thus, the mere recitation of the air conditioning unit as being located at the front portion of the right side wall is not considered to be patentable over Miller et al.

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
